

ADVANCED CLINICAL NUTRITION 2009, is a 2-day intensive conference offering a comprehensive update in the rapidly expanding field of preventive medicine and clinical nutritional therapies. Leading authorities in research and application of clinical nutritional medicine will be presenting the most current information available.

ADVANCED CLINICAL NUTRITION 2009, will be a unique opportunity to learn and keep abreast of worldwide research, facilitating an exchange of ideas with physicians and researchers.

This year special attention will be focused on reducing the burden of disease by improving health through inexpensive nutritional intervention.

Advanced Clinical Nutrition 2009 is organized by the European Laboratory of Nutrients / Vitamin Diagnostics together with the World Health Foundation (WHF), World Society of Anti-Aging Medicine (WOSAAM) and the Dutch Society of Anti-Aging Medicine (DSAAM).
